College Tale

Livingston College
Rutgers University

Livingston Student Center
84 Joyce Kilmer Avenue
Piscataway, NJ 08854

“Without variety, we don’t grow.”
Hyrum W. Smith

As the “Diversity Campus,” Livingston College has a long and all-encompassing history as well as present. The college has always strived to bring together diverse groups in an attempt to make the student’s four or five years at the college that much more engaging and educational. Open mindedness and challenging the social stereotypes has always been what the college is about. Livingston students can be proud of the role that they have played in the rich and varied tapestry of the campus.

H I S T O R Y

The Student Center and Lucy Stone Hall are among the more memorable buildings on campus.

What is this structure supposed to be anyway?

A big smile and a book in spite of just having recently woken up!

Sometimes just getting out of bed is the hardest part. But then again, those clean showers always await you!

"The value of life lies not in the length of days, but in the use we make of them."
Montaigne

One would think that starting the school year was the hard part but, once here, students quickly learn that the truly hard part is just starting out the day! With so many pulling responsibilities and commitments, the average student is exhausted before the semester is half over. Still, not all of it is due to classes and study! The late night parties and chit-chats with roommates also makes it a challenge to wake up for that first period class on Douglass!

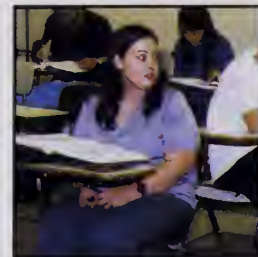

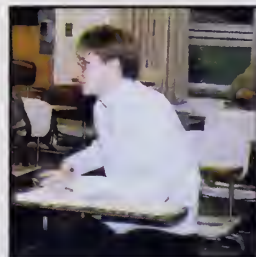

STARTING THE DAY

“Life is a succession of making choices; education helps you make wise ones.” Mary Emma Wooley

Okay, so you didn't really want to take “Basket Weaving in 6th Century Nigeria” first period on Cook Campus. Still that is ultimately half of the fun: At Rutgers you often don't know what classes you're going to end up with. Still, college is an educational experience and part of that comes from being exposed to new ideas and subjects that you might not have known that you were interested in. Also, who knows when the history of Nigerian basket weaving might come in handy!

C L A S S E S

Ah, the joy of spending hundreds of dollars on books and then showing up for your five hundred student lectures!

There's a lot to get in before and after class.

Studying with food and friends makes all the difference.

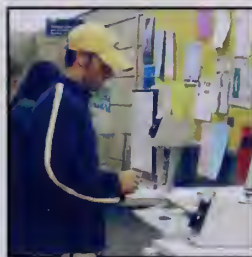

Studying hard wherever you can find a space.

"The greatest unexplored territory in the world is the space between our ears." William O'Brian.

This (hopefully) made up a large portion of your college years. Your room, the library, a friend's place, in class (while your teacher is speaking!), there is no wrong time or place to study. In fact, if Livingston students waited for the absolute right time and place, no studying would ever get done.

S T U D Y I N G

“Even if you’re on the right track, you’ll get run over if you just sit there.” Will Rogers

From The Liberated Gospel Choir to Habitat For Humanity, there is something for every type of Livingston student and for every one of their interests. Moreover, many of the organizations are located right here on Livingston campus and are therefore easily accessible. Hence students have a a place to socialize with the other group members as well as a place to accomplish great things!

O R G A N I Z A T I O N S

The Liberated Gospel Choir and The Commuter Program smile for the camera.

NJ PIRG pauses a moment while informing students about their organization.

A party isn't determined by "when"
and "where" but by
"who".

"I can resist everything except temptation."
Oscar Wilde

Party, Party, Party! We all know that it's a big part of college life and no campus knows how to do it better than Livingston! From all of those official college Student Center parties, to the late nights spent in your hallmate's dorm room with fifty other students that don't fit, there is always something going on and somewhere to go. The only problem comes from having to decide which one to attend!

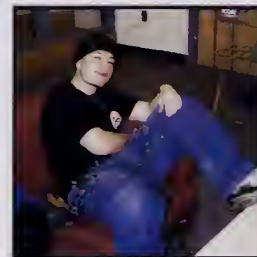

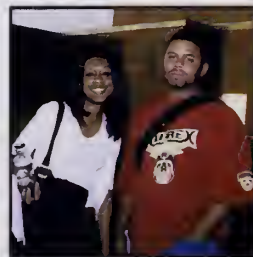

P A R T Y I N G

"I've got two reasons for success and I'm standing on both of them."
Betty Gable

Let's face it: Seniors have had the most immediate effect on the college by the time they are ready to leave as they have seen it through the past four years. Wherever you look, you see memories and a part of the campus that you have touched and have been touched by in turn. These have been years that serve as the forerunner to the rest of your life and, hopefully, you have been well served by the campus and all that it has had to offer. You can't take it all with you but you can take the intangibles, such as the memories and friendships that you've nurtured while you were here.

S E N I O R S

At least some of these are seniors!

Making the most of their last few moments here.

It all takes place around the nucleus of the college you're at.
Livingston offers tons of opportunities to get involved and to "get a student life"!

COLLEGE AVENUE

City Life

When it came to finding a party, College Avenue was the place to be. There was always something going on, whether it was a Fraternity party, block party, or a rally. The large number of friends you had on College Avenue made sure all of this was possible. Also, the large portion of classes located on this campus was recipe for great social interaction afterward. Admit it, in spite of all the bickering between the two Campuses, College Avenue was a great resource.

DOUGLASS & COOK

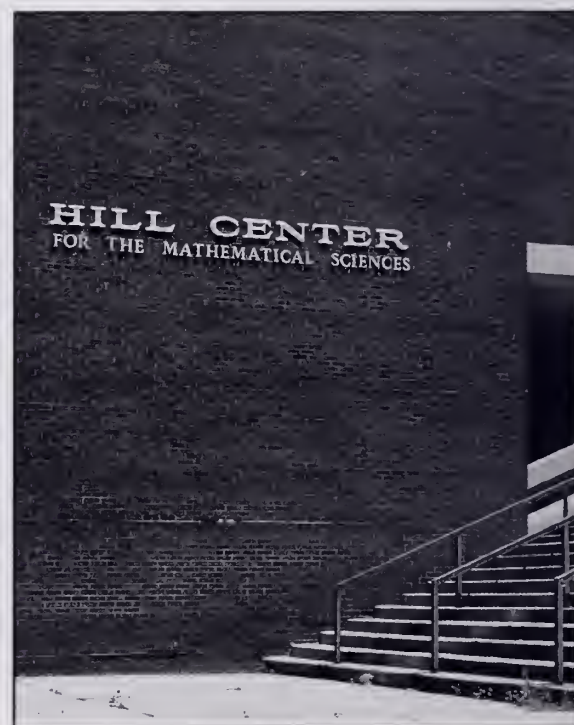

Country life

Douglass and Cook were places to relax. Places where we can find both peace and tranquillity. When we wanted to refocus or just needed time to think things through, These two campuses offered pockets of nature to escape to. Though getting to Douglass/Cook was sometimes a challenge, we all enjoyed the visit.

BUSCH CAMPUS

Urban Life

Our Engineers, Mathematicians, and Biologists should know this Campus well. It was the place where they spent most of their college years going to, and studying for, class. Lets also not forget the world class gym this campus provided. The great food and gameroom it made accessible and all of the friends it housed. Busch campus was a great place neighbor!

LIVINGSTON COLLEGE

Omni life

Livingston campus: Your home for four (or) five years. Livingston, is a place now synonymous with your college experience and all of the friends you've made. And just as you've grown to know and love the campus, so too was your lasting imprint been stamped on Livingston. The people you've met, the classes you've taken, and the extracurricular activities you've gotten involved in have all gone in to making Livingston the vibrant campus that it is. Thank for all that you've contributed.

SPRING FORMAL

Strict Attire

You couldn't have chosen a better way to say thank you and goodbye than with all of the opulence and splendor that made up the Spring Formal. Oh what a night!!

The great food coupled with old friends and hip music offered a perfect time and place to celebrate and lament the class of 2002's leaving.

SPRING FORMAL

SPRING FESTIVAL Fun Begins

Okay, so it did rain, however Springfest 2002 was the better for it! Between the various attending organizations, they made sure that there were enough squirt-guns, water balloons, and dry giveaway shirts at the end of it for all. That, combined with the great music, cool giveaways, fun rides, tasty food and, most importantly, everything being free, made the day a huge success. After all, what was a little rain when you and all of your friends were out and having a blast.

STUDENT CENTER

Community Heart

Whether you want distraction in the form of video games, pool or movie rentals, or food options in the form of Sbarros, Dunkin' Donuts or The Rock Cafe, or merely a place to relax that gets you out of your dorm, the Livingston Student Center has it! Also, there are the weekly Daytime Diversions offering often free entertainment to students, as well as access to a large number of Livingston organizations. This, as well as the friendly student center staff which can walk you through problems ranging from video rentals to class scheduling, means that the Livingston Student Center really is the heart of the campus.

RECREATION CENTER

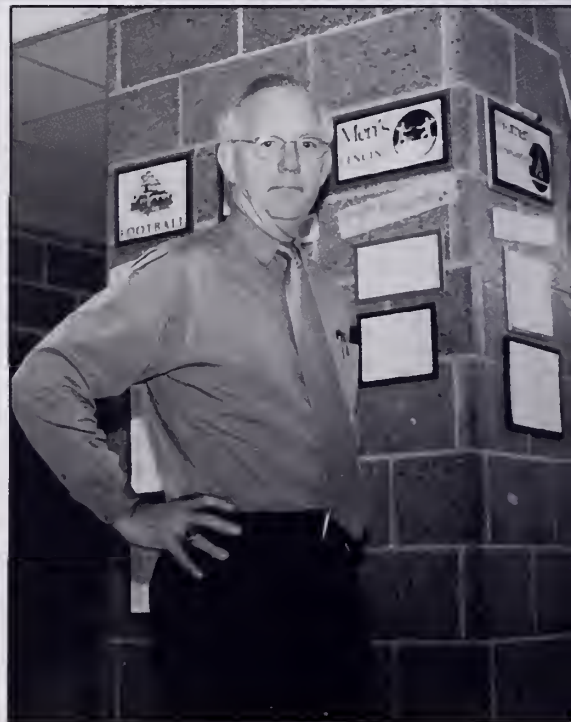

Get Healthy

Rutgers offers its students some of the best Gyms and sporting opportunities of any school. The Livingston Recreation Center is only one of a number of university owned gyms that cater to the large number of Rutgers students who want to play ball, work out, take the numerous rec. classes, or to even get a quick, healthy shake. A lot of hours that should have been spent studying were instead spent here working out.

DINING SPOT

Eating Time

What else do you go to college for? taste. Well okay, perhaps not every Between Tillett (which may or may not be to your taste), Sbbarro's, the Rock Cafe, and Dunkin' Donuts there is something for every discriminating discriminating taste but there are a wide array of foods to choose from and a lot of socializing takes place between bites!

SCHOOL SPIRIT

Be Proud

Livingston College, and Rutgers University overall, just wouldn't be the same without the students' spirit helping it to soar. While the College and University can do and be many things independent of its student body, it's ultimately your school spirit that has, and always will, comprise the heart and soul of the Campus and the University.

RUTGERS BUSESSES

Late Again

Rutgers' relationship with its busses has gone through quite a change over the past year. After many years, Rutgers finally dropped its contract with Suburban and signed on with Academy. So, between the new buses, new drivers learning old routes, and the many little accidents which inevitably followed, it has been an exciting year for bus riders everywhere. Still, the Rutgers' buses are simply one more unforgettable part of the overall Rutgers experience.

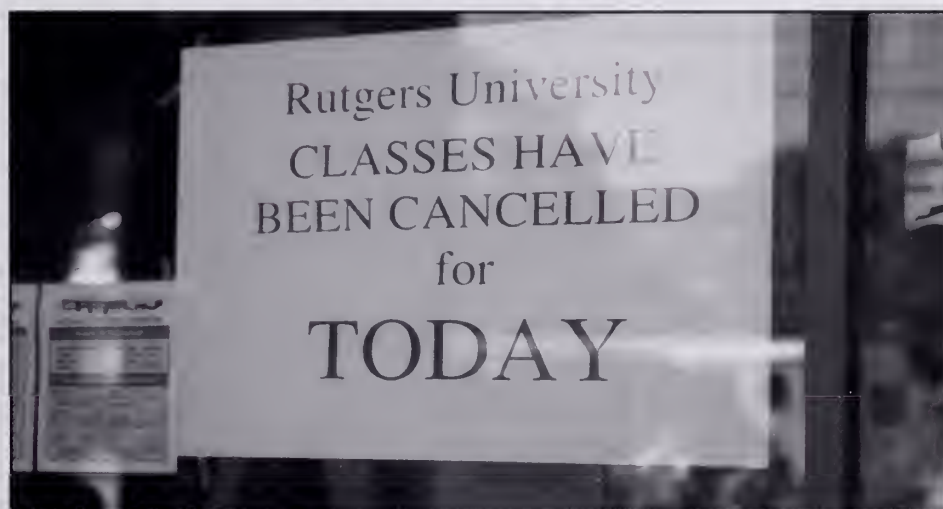

CLASS OF 2002

What Happened?

Whether you choose to focus on the problems or the pleasures, it's been quite an intense and formidable year for the University and for the Country. Between the Anthrax scare in the Food Science Center on Douglas, being bussed around and occasionally roughed up by Academy busses, having a new governor whose cutbacks threatened to directly affect your student fees and the overall profile of the university as well as a new head football coach (Coach Shiano), and of course, the tragedy of September 11th, your class year has seen and been through a lot. It therefore speaks volumes about the stamina and strength of you and your classmates that you made it through regardless. While we hope that the following few years won't hold as much drama, congratulations on staying together and ultimately walking for your diplomas in the face of such challenges.

A day in Getting up is always better when it is 11am and the first class of the day has been missed.

"Why did I ever pick a first period. I never make it anyway?"

Picking what to wear can always be a hassle.
"Does this make me look fat; do I look handsome in this outfit?"

Lecture halls are always so much fun, 400 people in a room that sits a 150.
"I haven't been to class in weeks, do we have a test today?"

It's now time for class but first the rumble must begin to get standing space on the bus.
"why does it take three hours to get to class?"

STUDENT the life

Lunch is always a good time...especially when you haven't eaten all day.

"So many decisions...., so many questions to what am I eating?"

Time to make $7 hr

"Hey who can complain, its money, but after work I am free to do whatever I please."

From Monday to Wednesday the schedule calls for studying.

From Thursday to Saturday the schedule calls for partying.

Moving In

Moving in is both an exhilarating and exhausting experience. At once you're exhausted by repeatedly lugging your hundred-plus pounds of possessions (that you weren't even aware you owned) up ten flights of stairs but you are also about to meet or be reunited with your roommates and start another year. In short, all of the frustration you feel about the move is soon forgotten in the exhilaration of making new friends, attending parties and being challenged by your new classes.

Move In Day...

Friend or

Foe?

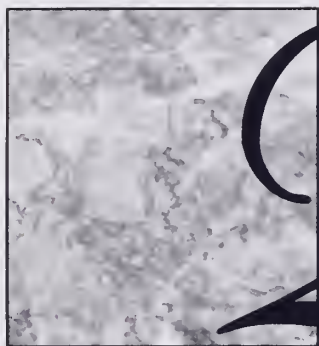

R.A.s

The link between the guys upstairs and the people downstairs

Your resident hall advisors can be your best friends or your worst enemies. That decision is usually made in the first few weeks of moving in. Whether good or bad, the RAs are an unavoidable part of living in the residence halls and therefore are an unavoidable part of the university experience for a large percentage of Rutgers students. Therefore what you choose to do with that is completely up to you!

Quads

The Quads or our second home, the place where every door to every room stayed open

This is where alot of the fun happens! On sunny days you can find students socializing on the benches, chasing a ball or frizbee in various directions, or lying out, books closed, taking in the sun on whatever little bit of grass hasn't already been claimed.

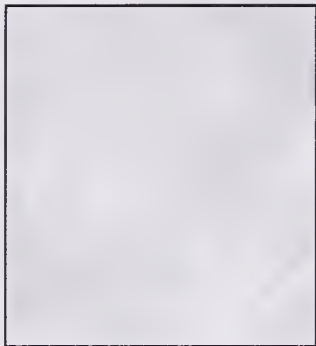

Towers

*The skyscrapers of the campus,
where its height
equaled the fun that took place inside*

The Towers are some of the more obvious landmarks on Livingston campus. Close to everything, the Tower student has easy and quick access to the entire campus. The Towers are especially brought to life during "Livingston Pride Month" when all of the windows are painted by the students with some sort of Livingston motif. But the truly exciting part is what happens in the building...not outside of it. Parties and other social activities make sure that your college experience is that much more colorful.

Hanging Out

When it comes to spending time with friends, hanging out is the thing to do

Ah, you've done your laundry, cleaned your room, and finished studying...time to hang out! Okay, so maybe you're hanging out without having done all of those things. Still, that's a lot of what college is about. In fact, looking back at your time here it probably seems a lot harder to remember what you learned in Physics than what you learned hanging out with friends!

these are the people that you will climb to the greatest heights with. Now that's the definition of a friend.*

Your new-found college friends and the memories you've made together are the things you can be sure you will take with you. You might also have learned about the Victorians, Astronomy, and Quantative Methods but you can count on the fact that your friends assisted with your leaning of these topics. But, looking back on your time here, hopefully your memories all involve friends that you've taken with you.

Our education started at Livingston but it is an open book as to where it will end.

cademics

Patience isn't just a virtue, it's a necessity.

REGISTERING

R

Registering by phone is a joy. Well, it's a joy if you're a second semester senior! Otherwise don't expect much sleep during registration because you'll inevitably be up until the small hours of the morning phoning and then re-phoning in an attempt to just get into the system. Once you're in, of course, you're home free...until you realize that everything you wrote down is now closed and that you'll have to hang up after phoning for four hours straight so that a new possibility of classes can be negotiated on paper. Welcome to a state school!

Spend, Spend, Spend!

BUYING BOOKS

The first part of the adventure that is buying books for your Rutgers classes is finding the actual bookstore. It is a fallacy to believe that the most obvious campus bookstore will be used for the classes on that particular campus. They may or may not be available there. It's a gamble. And, even if they are there, don't assume too much. It might be a different section of the same class. Err on the side of caution and wait until your professor tells you where the books are. Then and only then, can you race there to spend three hundred dollars on two economics books. But, no worries. You can sell them back after the classes are over for at least twelve dollars each. Good deal.

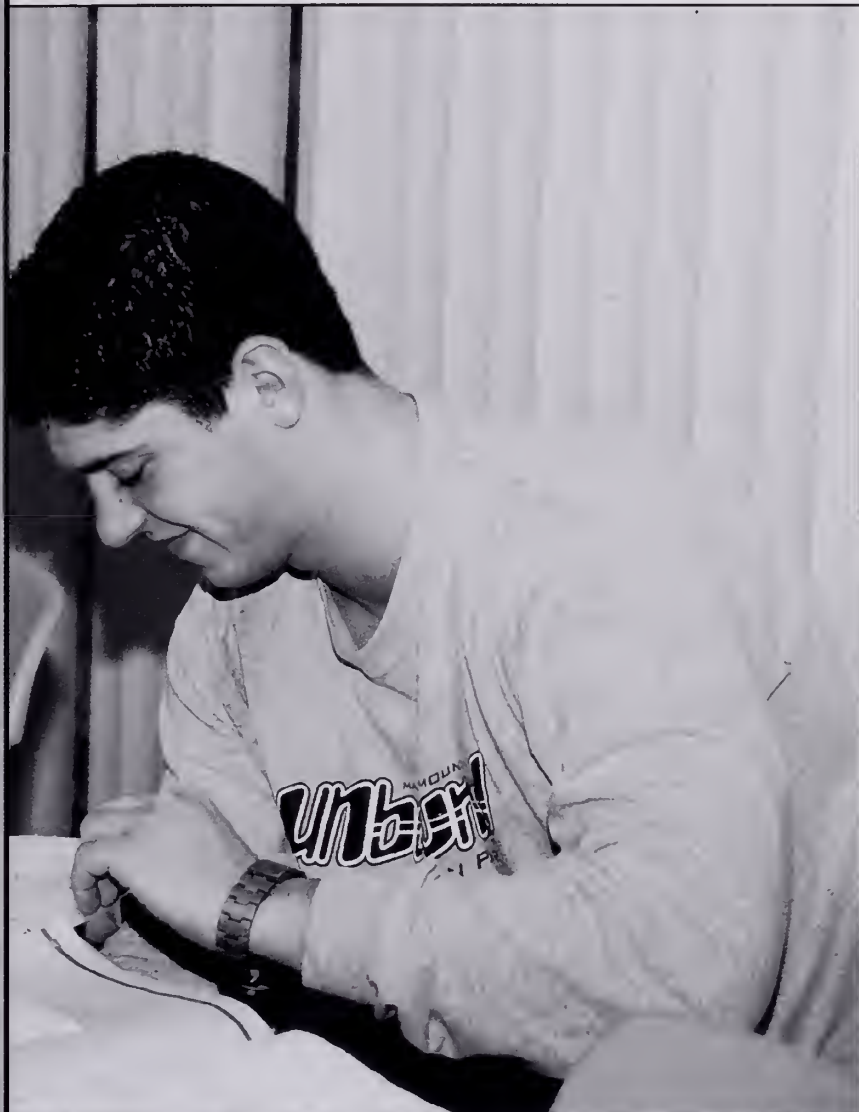

A C C A D E M I C S

All the tools you need.

LRCS, LIBRARIES AND AIC

One of the greatest benefits of attending a large, state university is the access you have to the various tools necessary to help you best succeed. Between the Learning Resource Centers, the many Rutgers libraries and the Academic Information Center, students have access to everything they should need to sail through their time at the University. In many ways, the right books, tutoring, and advising make the difference between an adequate student experience and a truly successful one.

Remember when papers were handwritten?

COMPUTER LABS

A

As far as computer accessibility goes, Rutgers has one of the better systems. With computer hookups already available in a large number of dorm rooms, computer friendly cubbys across the university accessible for study, and the many labs available across the campuses, Rutgers is a fairly computer savvy school. From the most advanced and knowledgeable computer whiz to those students who struggle to find the on button, the system allots a space for everyone.

A C A D E M I C S

*They're always

THE DEANS

The Livingston Deans have the amazing ability to be multiple places at once! No matter what is taking place on campus, no matter what time of day or night, there is a good chance that a dean will make an appearance. This very much separates Livingston off from the other campuses in that the Deans' interaction with students is a noticeable and consistent part of the time students will spend at Livingston. It's great knowing that such a support structure is at your disposal.

LIVINGSTON OWN CONCERT ORGANIZATION

LOCO

BRINGING MUSIC TO THE CAMPUS

LOCO has gotten a reputation for being one of the more liberal organizations on campus. Put together a dedicated number of students who are aware of every new, as well as old, band and then give them a notable budget to try to bring some of those bands to Livingston, and you have a recipe for sheer entertainment! The students have looked to LOCO for years to bring great big and small named bands to campus to keep the students rocking!

LIVINGSTON PROGRAM BOARD

LPB

ENTERTAINING THE LIVINGSTON POPULATION

The Livingston Program Board has been a reputable source amongst the students for years for offering great trips at student prices!

All student run, the Program Board offers events ranging from ski trips to comedy shows. Their completely volunteer student staff will stop at nothing to extend new and fun events to the Livingston population and they make sure that there is never a dull week on campus.

LIVINGSTON COLLEGE
GOVERNING ASSOCIATION

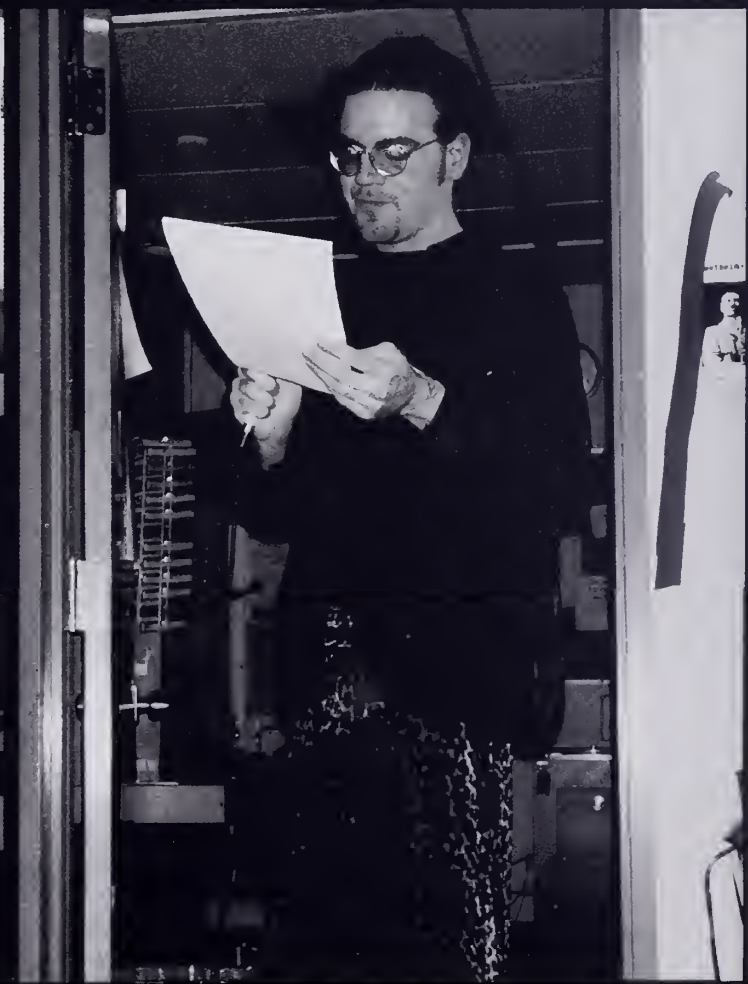

LCGA

THE VOICE OF THE LIVINGSTON STUDENT BODY

The LCGA is made up of a group of devoted students who are voted in by the Livingston student body. They are there to represent and speak for all Livingston students and they put in long hours making sure that both the extraordinary and every day events that take place on the campus run with the students in mind. If ever a student has a complaint, concern, or question, they can turn to their student representatives for help.

WRLC

MAKING MUSIC DAY AND NIGHT

THE WRLC is Livingston's own radio station.

One of their greatest strengths is their eclectic appreciation and representation of music. Given the large number of student DJs that have spots and shows at the station, there is, at one time of the day or another, literally something for every student taste.

LIVINGSTON THEATRE COMPANY

LTC

BRINGING THEATRE TO LIVINGSTON COLLEGE

The Livingston Theatre Company is fairly new to Livingston relative to other student organizations. Yet in a period of only four years, they have become one of the finest organizations on campus. Completely student run, they are able to raise the money, gather the production and acting staff, build the sets, and run the performances with nothing more than advising from non-student sources. Recently produced musicals include "Carnival", "Footloose" and "Jekle and Hyde". A lot of blood, sweat and tears go into making these shows as inspiring as they are.

LATINOS UNIDOS EN PODER

LUEP

REPRESENTING THE LATINO POPULATION FOR THE CAMPUS AND THE UNIVERSITY

LUEP is a wonderful resource for all Latino and non-latino students interested in learning more about Latino culture and history. Coming to a new place where you know no one can be intimidating. LUEP and other such groups can help students to navigate their interests and time here and perhaps make them a little more comfortable in the process. For non-latino students, it might be fun to get involved with a group of students whose ethnicity is different from your own. And you'll probably learn a thing or two in the process.

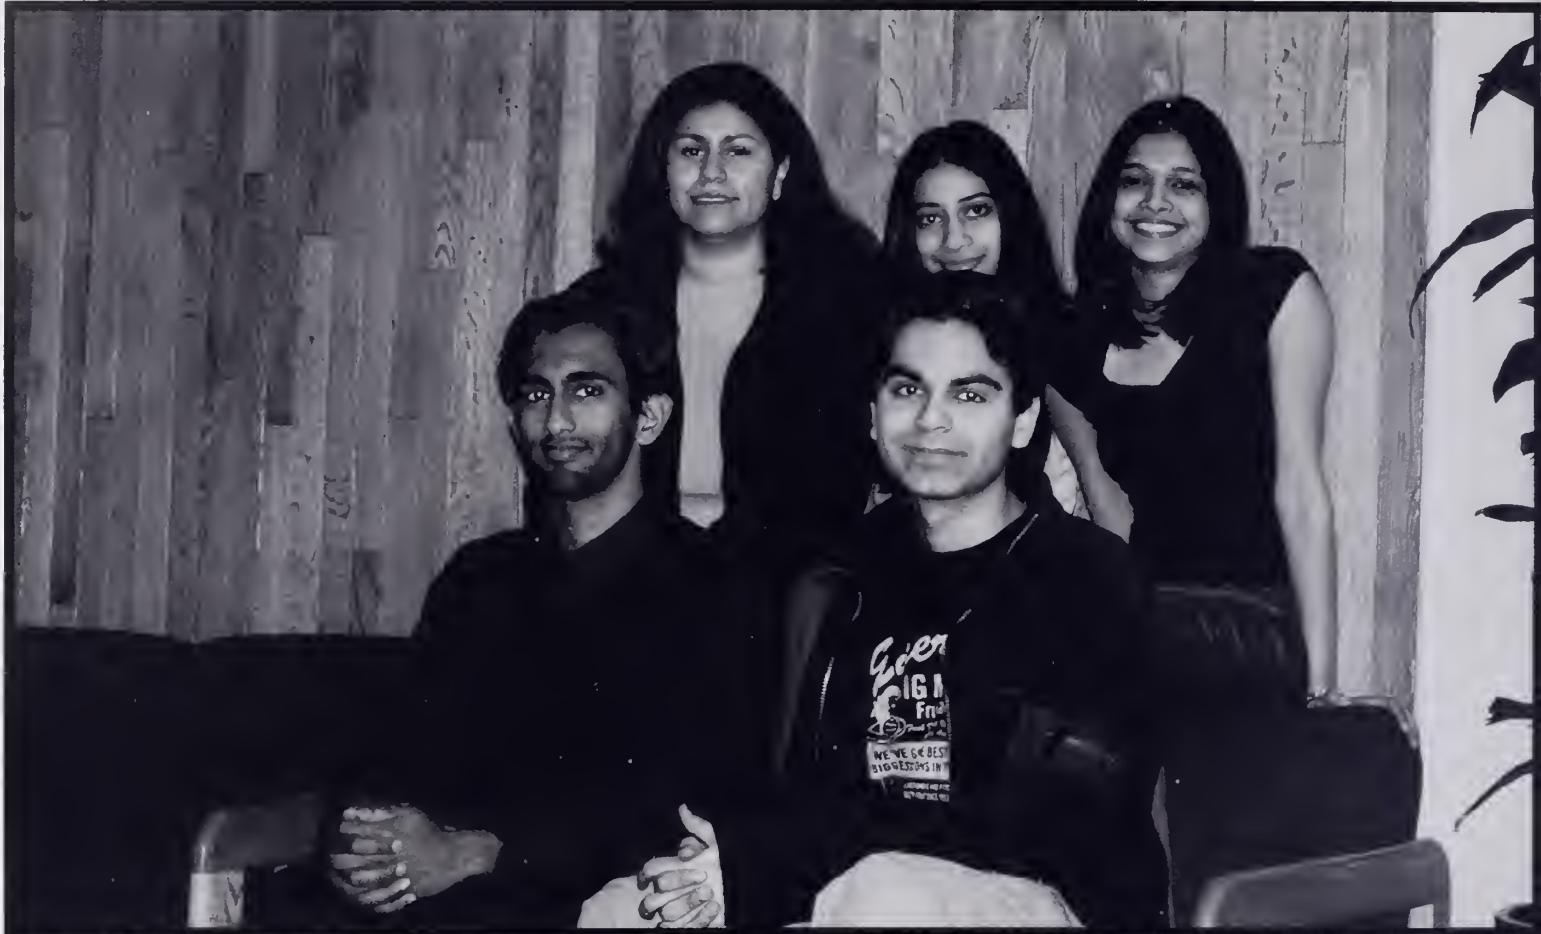

THE MEDIUM

THE ENTERTAINMENT MAGAZINE OF LIVINGSTON COLLEGE

Every past Rutgers student can't help but remember The Medium. In fact, the magazine represents one of the most student supported controversies at the University. Half of the students find it entertaining and believe that freedom of speech means no limitations, the other half of the students feel offended by the borderline pornography that sometimes finds its way into the paper and argue that it should cease to be student funded. Whichever side you're on, it represented a part of your college experience and an introduction to what it means to attend a free speech public institution.

STRAIGHT TALK AGAINST RACISM

STAR

MAKING COLLEGE A MORE HEAVENLY PLACE

Everyday people must confront different acts of racism since our culture has always seen race as a barrier or mainly a social rift between different classes of people. STAR is an outlet for college students to channel their frustration and anger about current racist acts into a more positive energy. At STAR everyone has a voice to discuss the issues amongst their own peers without being judged.

HABITAT FOR HUMANITY

GIVING SOMETHING BACK

For all of those students who felt like they wanted to give something back to the community, they needed to look no farther than Habitat For Humanity. Building a house for a indigent family will teach you construction skills, give a very needy family their own home and give you a great sense of pride and accomplishment. Habitat For Humanity offers great opportunities to make a lasting difference in your college community and beyond.

Commuters

"Commuters drive harder, faster and longer!"

The Commuter Program has been a staple at the college for many years now. Among other events, the Commuter Program sponsors trips into New York to see two musicals and one opera during each school year as well as at least one sporting trip. Likewise there are those free monthly luncheons, hosts of local trips to exciting places and informational sessions covering topics such as Defensive Driving and basic car maintenance.

Commuters

Being a commuter on Livingston has some great perks!

One of the most impressive parts of the program is the Commuter Lounge which is unique to the University in that it is the only equally staffed and supplied lounge solely for commuter students to be found on any of the campuses. In fact it hosts a prime star accessible large TV, sofas and tables for studying, and a fully equipped kitchen complete with sink, fridge and microwave. All-in-all, Livingston commuters truly chose the best campus for their needs!

FRATS AND SORORITIES

BROTHERS AND SISTERS FOR LIFE!

Joining a fraternity and sorority requires you to take the initiative to research and find the one that best suits your needs. However, once you're in, you're in for life and the rest is smooth sailing. Many college students find that their particular frat or sorority choice determines their college experience. Regardless of where they end up though, most brothers and sisters find that by the time they leave, they've adopted a whole new family.

D E A N ' S Awards
B A N Q U E T

Seniors who have excelled academically and those who have contributed exceptional service to the College are invited to the annual Dean's Award Banquet. Award recipients have been nominated by the College staff. Selection for an award in any of the categories yields one point for the nominee. To be invited to the Banquet, a student must have earned 90 or more credits and 3 or more points. This year's Banquet was held at the Holiday Inn in Sommerset on May 5, 2002. The Banquet is the College's formal way of saying Thank You to the students who made a difference at Livingston College. It is an opportunity for seniors to share a special moment together with family and friends. Although the afternoon can be a little long, it is filled with a genuine appreciation and celebration for each other's achievements and contributions. THANK YOU!

To the Class of 2002:

It is with fond memories and best wishes that on behalf of Livingston College, I bid you farewell. This class is uniquely positioned in history. Your time at Livingston College bridged two different centuries, and due to the events of September 11, 2001, very possibly crossed between two distinctive periods of American and World History. Regardless of what the future holds, I am confident that Livingston College prepared you well for the challenges of these new times. This includes an appreciation for community, a global perspective on life, and the leadership skills to work effectively with others.

As you prepare for your tomorrows, I encourage you to engage and change the world in simple, and yet critical and lasting ways. Strive to be a better son or daughter, a faithful friend, and concerned neighbor. If you have learned the lessons of Livingston, then you will also go on to be a concerned citizen, a competent employee or employer, and perhaps a supportive spouse or loving parent. Nevertheless, in whatever you do and whomever you interact with, your goal will be to leave each place or person in a better condition than when you found them.

May the true peace that surpasses all understanding rule and guard all that you do from this day forward.

Arnold G. Hyndman, Ph.D.
